

The Day of People's Unity

Konstantin Makovsky
Minin's Appeal. 1896

Unity Day, also called the Day of People's Unity or National Unity Day – is a national holiday in Russia held on 4 November [O.S. 22 October]. It commemorates the popular uprising which ended the Polish occupation of Moscow in November 1612, and more generally the end of the Time of Troubles and turning point of the Polish intervention in Russia.

Our strength lies in unity!
